

EDUCATION AND CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Mrs. M. Jenkins

The reports showed interest in learning more about the Women's Institute activities and projects at all levels; studies on Bill 82 which affects the educational system and a need for education for rural women.

The FWIC project for the next three years is "Unlimited Potential — Women" with studies and programs on the "Effect of Micro Technology in the Workplace and in the Home" and "Issues and Concerns of Women."

Resource material — Canadian Advisory Council on Status of Women, Box 1541, Station B., Ottawa, K1P 5R5.

FAMILY AND CONSUMER AFFAIRS

Mrs. Elgin Belrose

All areas reported on the work of the 4-H clubs and the leaders that are provided. One leader was honoured for leading 53 clubs in 25 years. Programs were varied but many urged consumers to know the difference between good value and a bargain.

Suggested programs for the next year are "Women and Chemical Dependency" and "Rights and Responsibilities of Canadian Health Consumers."

CITIZENSHIP AND WORLD AFFAIRS

Mrs. K.C. Angus

Among the studies and programs were Amendments to Bill C-53 and the Criminal Code; reforms in Marriage and Family Laws; law re: the Status of Indian Women married to non-Indians; Canadian laws pertaining to Women; and the need for Interval Homes for Battered Wives.

Concern was shown for the World-Wide need for fresh water. Programs suggested by FWIC for the next three years is "Unlimited Potential — Women" dealing with topics of "Pornography" and "Human Rights."

Familiar faces . . .

At November's annual meeting, an OMAF photographer snapped lots of pictures of the activities. Here are just a few familiar faces. Clockwise, from the top right hand corner are FWIC president Bernice Noblitt, making an address and Rural Organizations and Services (ROS) Branch Director Ken Knox; ROS liaison representative with FWIO, Joyce Canning (right) and FWIO president Janet Hiepleh make some notes; and Agriculture and Food Minister Dennis Timbrell chats with Helen Moore (centre) and Rose Blasing (right).
