

What's Happening

Late last fall, Simcoe County Farm Women held a farm safety and farm landscaping day. Pictured above are members participating in a hazard hunt at a local farm machinery dealership. Ted Whitworth, a representative of the Ontario Farm Safety Association, (right) is leading the activity. A fire extinguisher demonstration followed the hunt. Vera Maguire, a member of Minesing Women's Institute, was recently inducted into the Simcoe County Agricultural Hall of Fame. Vera was known for her work with honey--producing a cookbook, writing a column, and giving cooking demonstrations. Vera held many offices in WI and was also involved with the Barrie Fair. Ashgrove Women's Institute members decided to undertake a landscaping project at the local church after taking a course offered by Halton and Wellington Districts. Adding the finishing touches are (from left to right), Gwen Brander, Muriel McClure and Verna Bird. (Photo courtesy of Mary Jane Wingfield)

Hereward Women's Institute members recently raised money to help purchase this new mini-bus equipped with a wheelchair lift for the Dufferin Oaks Home for the Aged. Using the bus is Kate Howden, mother of a Hereward WI member.
