Winty weather this past weekend did not deter the enthusiastic crowds which descended on Belmore to attend their 19th annual Maple Syrup Festival. On Thursday which features "Seniors Day," volunteer workers were kept busy looking after the needs of 15 busloads and numerous others which arrived at the noon hour. One thousand and forty-five diners were served after which the group enjoyed games of bingo, touring the craft booths and especially enjoying the old time music. Saturday which is family day was again no exception with over 2,000 dinners being served. While friends reminisced, others enjoyed the variety of entertainment which ranged from step-dancing, to bagpipes, barbershop singing and a first this year, a local choir of Belmore young people organized by Shirley Metcalfe, directed by Pat Evers with Donna Inglis as pianist. Another first this year which proved quite popular was a children's video shown in the curling lounge and sponsored by the local figure skating club. With attendance figures being up over the 200 mark from last year, organizers were well pleased with the success of this year's event and look forward to next year's 20th anniversary.
