

Congratulations Belmore Feed Mill

Sunny skies prevailed for the Belmore Feed Mill on Thursday as they celebrated their 4th anniversary with an open house and customer appreciation day. The mill was purchased from Ken Dickson by Mac Inglis and his son Bob who manages the mill and employs Dean Thompson, Tom Inglis and Ron Bester as trucker.

The mill is doing well, serving area farmers with prepared Shur-Gain feeds in both bulk and bags, animal health products, fencing supplies and pet food. Our congratulations to the Inglis family and best wishes for success in the future.

Three young perspective farmers enjoyed posing for their picture atop bags of feed on Thursday morning as their fathers attended the customer appreciation day at the Belmore Feed Mill. Michael Jeffray (centre), son of Ross and Wilma Jeffray is accompanied by brothers Blake and Paul Jeffray, sons of Doug and Olive Jeffray. Looking on is owner-manager, Bob Inglis, and brother, Tom, who helps out at the mill.

Mrs. Norma Inglis was kept busy serving coffee, doughnuts and sausage on a bun to a number of people who dropped into the mill to help them celebrate their 4th anniversary. Enjoying his morning snack is Nick Schiestel. Photos by Eadie.

Belmore Lib

Since March, various citizen groups have gone to the monthly meetings of the Huron County Library Board, in an attempt to dissuade the Board from closing the Belmore Library.

Their objections and proposals have met with nothing but unyielding opposition from the Board, and it looks as if the Belmore Branch will no longer receive services from the County Library System. But Belmore is not ready to accept the loss of this valuable community resource.

On Wednesday, June 3 at 7:30 p.m. there will be a meeting of Belmore and area residents to discuss the formation of an independent library for Belmore. It will rely on donated books and volunteer staffing, so interest from the community is of vital importance.
