

Rob Mills, 20, of Tara, died in hospital in London early Monday morning after an accident between Paisley and Chesley early Sunday morning.

The driver of this Cadillac, Rob Mills, 20, of Tara, died in hospital early Monday morning of injuries received when the car hit a bridge on the county road between Chesley and Paisley, early Sunday morning.

Rob Mills dies after crash

A tragic accident on the weekend claimed the life of a highly-respected young Tara man, Robert (Rob) Mills.

The accident took place early Sunday morning on the county road between Paisley and Chesley.

The 1968 Cadillac Rob was driving struck a bridge on the road and the steel guard rail sheared off and struck the driver. A passenger in the vehicle, Gary Gingrich, was not injured.

Rob was a clerk and assistant in the meat department at Steinacker's K Food Store in Tara. His obliging, soft-spoken manner and helpful ways will be missed by all patrons of that store.

The eldest son of Bob and Jean Mills of R.R. 3, Tara, Rob was born and raised in the village. He attended Tara Elementary School and later received his secondary education at Chesley District High School. Rob was active in sports and a valued member of the Tara intermediate hockey team.

One of his passions was Cadillacs and he had purchased the vehicle he was driving just a few weeks ago from Jack Wark.

Besides his parents, Rob is survived by a brother Randy, and sisters Lynn and Kelly. When the accident occurred, Randy was in Western Canada on vacation, and Rob's parents were in the Niagara Falls area, also on vacation.

Rob also was a member of the Knox Presbyterian Church of Tara.

Nuclear Guides (left to right) at the Bruce Nuclear Power Development, from surrounding communities, are: Colin Buchanan, attending University of Toronto; Cheryl Pegelo, York University; Tammi Harron, Guelph University; Bev Coffman, University of Toronto; Diane Kennedy, Queens University and Carolyn Stepnow, University of Waterloo.

Hobby and Craft Fair an annual delight

For those people with a talent, it is a chance to pick up some different ideas; for those without, it is the opportunity to learn; for everyone, the annual Bruce Centre District Women's Institute Craft and Hobby Fair is an experience never to be forgotten.

The twelfth annual version of the Fair will be held Thursday, July 8th at the Southampton Coliseum from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

For an admission price of 50 cents (children free) one can stroll through the displays and workshops of over 100 craft-people, including 50 new ones to this year's event.

Visitors can learn the intricacies of quilting, crocheting, painting, leather working, stained-glass work, ceramics, wood-working, knitting, broom making, wood carving, weaving, model railroading, needle-point, macrame, rug hooking, and so much, much more.

Although most articles on display are for sale, the craftsmen themselves have always been available for discussing or explaining any aspect of their work, or just for a leisurely chat.

Over 4000 people toured the crafts extravaganza last year, and again this year, buses will be arriving from London, Sarnia, Elmvalle and many other points throughout the province. A local service has been arranged by Gregg's Bus Lines and will leave Paisley at 12 noon to pick up interested people in Walkerton, Hanover, Chesley and all points in between. The bus will arrive in Southampton at 2:30 and will leave for the return trip at 6:30 p.m.

The planning for this Fair begins immediately after each Fair is completed and the task requires the work of ladies from 12 area Women's Institutes, being Allanford, Arkwright, Bruceedale, Burgoyne, Elsinore, Mount Hope, Port Elgin, South Saugeen, Tara, Underwood, West Arran, and White School. Their outstanding and tireless work is co-ordinated by Mrs. Helen Gowanlock of R.R. 1 Allenford.

The Fair organizers will be providing a baby-sitting service for a nominal fee, as well as providing delicious home-cooked meals during the lunch and dinner hours. Snacks, of course, are available all day for those who can't wait.

A quilt draw will be made at 9:30 p.m. and door prizes of Bruce County Tartan souvenirs will be awarded throughout the day.

A special bonus this year will come from Escape Ladies' Wear, in Southampton, who will be offering discounts to customers wearing Craft and Hobby Fair admission tickets.