End of an era Paisley Creamery coming down

by Chris Cheesman

As most have noticed the sign on the Old Paisley Creamery says "Knechtel Coming in Spring of 88".

On Monday, December 28, work began on the Creamery. It will be a long job tearing down the building that has been there at least since the early 1900's. Ron Gibbons Construction Workers expect the work to take at least a good three weeks depending on the weather.

Workers started on the roof and then plan to enter the building later to remove the lumber, etc. The amount of time spent on tearing the creamery down also depends on how much is salvaged. Excess steel roofing and lumber will be for sale because of this. This is just the first step to a long job.
