As indicated in our last issue, L.L.N.W.A.'s Community Opportunities Program, PROSPECTS, is busily preparing to serve the public. It is expected that the program staff will be moving into their new location on the Camp Tuc Qua Shin property during the last week of February. The first clients will be accommodated during the first weeks of March. The Lakefield offices, in Juliann's Plaza, will open in April.

PROSPECTS official opening, which will include a ribbon cutting ceremony, is scheduled for April 21st. Details regarding the opening are still being ironed out and an invitation list is being drawn up. Community members should be receiving a pamphlet outlining PROSPECTS' service information and eligibility requirements in about two weeks.

Bryant Owen
New Director of YET Centre

As of February 15th, 1992, Bryant Owen took over as the Director of the Youth Employment Teaming Centre. Before coming to the YET Centre, Mr Owen was involved with the Peterborough EPYC Centre, another Youth Employment Counselling Centre. At EPYC he served as an Employment Counsellor and worked out of the satellite offices in Norwood and Campbellford as well as the Peterborough office.

Bryant graduated from the Employment Counsellor program at Sir Sandford Fleming in 1990 and provided teaching and counselling services to the college until moving on to the EPYC Centre.

Bryant grew up in Apsley and attended Lakefield D.S.S. Some people may remember his father Bunny Owen of Owen Real Estate. After highschool Bryant went on to hold a variety of different positions, including sales, industrial/commercial maintenance, truck driving and self employment. Until returning to school he spent over twelve years working as a small engine mechanic.

Bryant said, "I am really looking forward to my new position in providing employment services to young people in the same area where I grew up and first started working.

Welcome to the LLNWA team Bryant!

Tips To Increase The Readability of Your Notices

As director of Learning at the Learning Centre, Pearl Parkin has noticed that many producers of bulletins, pamphlets, newsletters and other public notices, could easily improve the readability of these notices. Many more people will read these publications if a few simple rules are followed.

1) DO NOT write in all capital letters. Emphasize by underlining or bolding!
2) Use simple, clear language.
3) Do not use long sentences. Fifteen words, or less, is a good rule of thumb.
4) Use more blank space, to rest the readers eyes. Do not fill the page with text!
5) Two columns are better than full page width blocks. They are easier to read.

EVERYONE will find it easier to read notices that use these tips!

NOTICE

The Learning Centre will be moving to new facilities at Camp Tuc Qua Shin and, in the Juliann Plaza of Lakefield. The move will take place during April. The new facilities will be ready for clients by the 1st of May.

Each of the new facilities will feature warm washrooms!

YOUR OWN STUDY PLAN

1) Study at a specific time.
2) Do not try to watch TV and study at the same time!
3) Study in a specific place.
4) Choose a comfortable chair, not a relaxing one. A chair which is too comfortable will turn a wide awake student into a drowsy one!
5) Be realistic. Plan no more than one hour of studying each day.
6) Choose the same days each week.
7) Take an occasional break.
