 Eighteen-month-old Jerry Lamont looks at a moose held by bazaar convener Eileen Adnitt, left, and Chris Eby convener of the Sleepy Time Shop.

Mrs. Art Schwass chose a busy corner in Port Elgin this past week to do her volunteer collecting during the Saugeen Memorial Hospital Ladies Auxiliary's Tag Day. The ladies of the auxiliary held a similar tag day in Southampton last weekend. Monies collected will go towards the many worthwhile projects these tireless ladies do for our community hospital.

Friends and family gather to honor Lettie Ribey

The family and friends of Mrs. Lettie Ribey gathered in her honor Sunday, August 20 at the Port Elgin United Church House, to celebrate her 80th birthday. Mrs. Ribey is the wife of the late Stagley Ribey and has lived all her life in the Port Elgin area. Mr. and Mrs. Ribey originally lived on the home farm on the 12th of Bruce where they brought up their three sons, Kenneth, Allan and Tom. Eventually the family moved to North Bruce and then to Port Elgin, where Mrs. Ribey is currently a resident of Pineview senior citizens' apartments. The Ribey clan, consisting of Mrs. Ribey's three sons and their families, her sisters and brother-in-law, Mrs. Blanche Williams, and Mrs. Nellie and Albert Lowes, and her sisters-in-law Rhoda and Florence Ribey, gathered together for a family dinner at noon on Sunday and then spent the afternoon entertaining guests at the United Church House.
