Historical Pageant Given At Glanworth

In typical dress of the 1870's, members of the congregation of St. Andrew's United Church, Westminster, took part in an historical pageant last night to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the church. The play was written especially for the centennial by one of the stars of the work, Mrs. Hazel Crinklaw, who is seated at left above. The other three, who are also leading actors in the show, are Robert Elliott, Babe Munro and Adam Flowers. The pageant will be shown again tonight.

One Man Drowned In Welland River

WELLAND, June 14 — (CP) — Omar McCreedy, 33, of nearby Fenwick, was drowned today when a boat upset in the Welland River about 10 miles east of here.

A companion, Fred Nickerson, 22, also of Fenwick, was rescued by two Hamilton fishermen, Harold Weyers and Howard Turner.

Nickerson held on to the overturned craft until rescued.

Glanworth Church Marks Centennial With Pageant

By Staff Reporter

GLANWORTH, June 13 — In long white beards and Victorian dress, members of the congregation of St. Andrew's United Church, Westminster, tonight celebrated the 100th anniversary of the founding of their church. The costumes were worn in an historical pageant depicting typical rural life around 1875.

The characters in the sketch are all fictitious, but all facts and figures in the play relating to church history are from old records. The play, which takes place one day in the middle 1870's, was written especially for the Centennial celebrations by Mrs. Hazel Crinklaw, who also stars in her own creation.
