The church was decorated in white shasta mums and pink carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of silk faced peau de soie, the front of the bell skirt was frosted with re-embroidered Alencor lace. It had a scoop neckline with lace Chapel train, fitted bodice and applique and long fitted sleeves. A crown of mohair with crystal held the silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis and fern.

Miss Rosemary Smith was bridesmaid for her sister and Mrs. Austin Thompson, the groom's sister, and Mrs. Marvin Weir, the bride's sister, were bridesmaids. They wore full skirted dresses of shocking pink peau de soie, featuring scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. The skirts featured panel effects in front with bows at the waist. All wore matching wedding ring hats and carried cascades of white carnations.

Beverly Richardson, bride's niece, was flower girl. She wore white organza with pink cummerbund and matching wedding ring hat. She carried a miniature cascade of white carnations with pink satin streamers.

Robert Urbshott of Guelph was groomsman and ushers were Ernest Smith, Lion's Head and Austin Thompson, Kitchener. Allan Hepburn, nephew of the groom, was ringbearer.

Following a wedding dinner in the dining room of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, a reception was held at Lindsay Township hall.

The bride's mother received guests at the reception wearing a three-piece navy double knit suit with a pink carnation corsage. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a blue double knit dress with pink carnations.

For a wedding trip to Northern Ontario and the United States the bride wore a three-piece pale blue double knit suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. On their return the couple will reside in Wiarton.

Guests were present from Hamilton, Chatsworth, Guelph, Kitchener, St. Mary's Chesley, Wiarton and the Bruce Peninsula.
