

AMHERST ISLAND

AFTER 108 YEARS, GENERAL STORE SOLD BY NEILSON FAMILY

MORE THAN A CENTURY of catering to the people of Amherst Island by the Neilson family came to an end last week, when Frederick Neilson sold his general store to Thomas Miller. Mr. Miller, a native of the Island, who has been employed in the Royal Canadian Air Force and later at the Royal Mint in Ottawa, will carry on the business of the store in the future.

Beaver Photo by Don Douglas

see over