Women's Institute members gathered at the site for the presentation to Mrs. Coulthard, who has held nearly every position since 1932.

"I've been president, district president, provincial board director, secretary, secretary treasurer, and I'm presently the curator for the St. Paul's branch," said Mrs. Coulthard.

St. Paul's is located between Stratford and St. Mary's.

Also enjoying themselves at the Harvest Day festivities were members of the Women's Institute from England. Part of a 10-day tour, the travellers also visited Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, and Niagara Falls.

Having offered more than 50 years of service to the St. Paul's Women's Institute, it was appropriate that Jeanne Coulthard received an award for her service amid the stately structure of the Women's Institute's first home, the Erland Lee Museum Home.

The award, which came in the form of a painting of the old Lee home, was presented during the Harvest Day celebration held Oct. 4 and 5 at the museum.
