

Miss Jean Carpenter, Home Economics Council, had charge of the remainder of the meeting which proved to be very beneficial.
Many ^{excellent} household hints were read by the members these being given in alphabetical order.
Jean Carpenter read a most outstanding article on "How to dress in good taste" Choosing colors trimmings, style Economic value and testing fabrics The members learned that the ordinary lemon proved to be of great value there being 14 uses for this fruit!
A very amusing but instructive contest on table ~~setting~~ ^{etiquette} was held, there being 18 rules. The winners for this contest were Mrs Mc Callum and Mrs Wiltner they having 17 points Following this the Ladies sang the old familiar Christmas Carol "O Come all ye Faithful" a dainty lunch was served. A hearty note of thanks was tendered to Mrs Cox for her most kind hospitality and to Miss Carpenter for preparing this most excellent program.
