

parts of the world. Miss Doris Dunkin had samples of her hand weaving, Mrs McClellan showed samples of her beautiful crochet work, and also showed several sketches of artwork done by Miss Stewart a friend. One of Mrs Wittner's many hobbies is collecting old glassware of which she had many pieces on exhibit. To conclude this most beneficial hobby display, we were fortunate in having Mrs Manning with us, who gave us a demonstration on weaving having her loom set up, and also showing samples of purses, scarves, children's skirts etc.

Miss Jean Carpenter gave a paper on the history of wallpaper <sup>once</sup> a hobby of one man which proved to be most fascinating and universal down through the years. The meeting closed with a dainty lunch served by the hostess.
