

Ben Gill Street was one of the first to have silos. The first silos were wooden stave silos, bound with heavy iron bands.

The Reids, Gilberts, Vandusens and Scotts having the first which were later replaced by cement. Also water was pumped by the windmill for the stock. Reids, Gilberts, Chas. Carter and the Lester Doxsee farms had these. They too, have disappeared, being replaced by the modern motor, either gas or electric.