Herbert and Iris Allison held their 50th wedding anniversary Oct. 4 at Centennial Hall, Picton United Church with many friends and relatives there.

Couple celebrate 50th anniversary

On the evening of October 1, the residents of Maple Villa held a party for their popular security tenants and friends, Herbert and Iris Allison, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The gathering was entertained for more than an hour by the music, songs and stories of Jack Jones and his friends in Grandpa's Good Time Band whose performance was much enjoyed.

In a short address, Ross

Irish, on behalf of all, conveyed congratulations and well-wishes for the future and presented Mr. and Mrs. Allison with a gift to which all had contributed.

Mrs. Ena Hicks, on behalf of the residents of Twin Pines extended their congratulations and also presented a gift.

The party concluded with a buffet-style lunch featuring a specially decorated anniversary cake which was cut by Mr. and Mrs. Allison.

MARRIED AGAIN — Pearl and Jim York of RR 1, Bloomfield celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by having a formal wedding something they missed when they ran away and got married the first time. They were married for the second time on Saturday at Demorestville United Church.

They were married in Napanee United Church by Rev. James Beckeral, Aug. 23, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Scott

Golden wedding

Luella and Carman Scott, who live at 7 Fawcett St., in Fawcettville, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a special family dinner on July 17 at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Picton. An open invitation had been extended to friends and relatives to drop in after the meal for a social get-together. Dance music was provided.

Married on July 16, 50 years ago by Rev. Brethren in Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Scott are natives of the county and have spent their life here.

They lived at Doxsee's Corners where they farmed for a number of years; then in Picton for 30 years and at their present home for the past 20 years.
