

DON'T FENCE ME IN

The face of rural Ontario has changed over the years. The fences our early farmers constructed with the materials close at hand still stand in many parts of the province as reminders of our rural past.

