KINGSTON — An RR 2 Embrow pork producer has been elected president of the Ontario Farm Safety Association.

James Gibb was recently elected to the position at the association's annual conference in Kingston and replaces Morley Weathermore, of Creemore, who served as president for two years.

A 13-year-veteran on the West Zorra council, Mr. Gibb has been the township representative to the safety association since it began in 1971.

He has served on the board of directors for five years and is responsible for Perth, Huron, Oxford and Brant counties.

At the conference he was presented with a pen and pencil set for his five years service as director.

Mr. Gibb is also president of the Woodstock Agricultural Society and president of the Embrow Optimists.

The other members elected to the OFSA executive are: vice-president Bob Goulet, of Blenheim, and on the executive committee, Renie Long, of London, Anton Wytenburg, of Richmond, and Allen Diefenbacher, of Floradale.
