Reeve Dean Sets Record Straight

South Monaghan Township has provided the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham with three wardens in 28 years, not three in 12 years as reported in Friday's Examiner, it was pointed out today by Reeve George Dean.

The last South Monaghan representative to be warden was Ray Bothwell in 1958. Before that, Harry Campbell held the post in 1952, and Fred Waterman in 1936.

Mr. Waterman's 1936 stint ended 34 years during which other municipalities provided the wardens. The 1902 warden was Robert Fisher of South Monaghan.
