BETTY BOUGHT IT! A "unique" eyeglass holder is Betty Self's to take home. Hers was the highest silent bid on offer. With over 1000 items up for sale, there was something for everyone at the Harvest Auction.

UNDERNEATH THE LAMPLIGHT: Northumberland Publishers Publisher Mike Walsh and Karen Walsh are pleased with a lamp purchased at the 12th annual Coborne Rotary Harvest Auction held at the Cobourg Lion' Community Centre last Friday.

Pasquan returns to roots in Bruce County

Coborne Chronicle Nov. 2/00

After one year as Cramahe Township Road Superintendent, Steve Pasquan is moving on. He has accepted an administrative position with the Township of Huron Kinless in Bruce County effective November 20.

Steve Pasquan

"My last day is November 17, 2000," Mr. Pasquan announced Monday night. "For me, it's a move more in the direction of what I would like to do, which is administration. And I will be closer to my family and my roots.

"And another problem for me is poison ivy," he admitted wryly. "I'm very susceptible so an administrative job is more in my style."

The Sarnia resident has been commuting home weekends since taking up the Cramahe post last November after former Road Superintendent Michelle Hendry left.

Mr. Pasquan thanked the township council for the opportunity to work in Cramahe Township. "It's been a fun year, an interesting year for me."

Mr. Pasquan's resignation was accepted by council "with regret" and best wishes for his future.
