number of years should be reviewed."

Acting Cobourg Police Chief Paul Sweet said of the Governor General, "Her empathy came through loud and clear."

Asked why he continues to fight for the Cross of Valour for Constable Garrett, Acting Chief Sweet said, "because he would have done it for us. What he did for the people of Cobourg and the other officers, it's the least we can do. He should be recognized at the highest level for our country."

"What took Chris Garrett to the scene of his death was his job. He made a sacrifice there, but then something else happened that took it to a whole different level - a hero."

While bleeding from an ultimately fatal slash to his throat, Constable Garrett managed to shoot and wound his assailant, Mr. Davey, which ultimately led to his arrest when he sought medical treatment. At his trial, it was revealed Mr. Davey had stockpiled weapons and planned to harm other police personnel in a crime spree that was cut short by Constable Garrett's bullet.

"I'm optimistic. It's obvious there is ongoing discussions between the prime minister and the governor general. They want to do the right thing. So I'm very optimistic."

Northumberland-Quinte West MP Rick Norlock said after the meeting he is "cautiously optimistic" there will be "significant progress" at a meeting on Thursday in Ottawa.

"I think by all indications all options are being looked at."

Garrett's mother, said when informed by the hospital foundation. "I'd like Mr. Goodwin to know how much the family appreciates this tribute to Chris."

Mr. Goodwin is a former Cobourg town councillor and police services Board member. In 1991, when he won $10-million with a Lotto 649 ticket, one of his first purchases was new service arms for the Cobourg police force.

"This is one way I can give back," Mr. Goodwin said of his NHH Foundation donation. "And it honours a great guy."

"It sends a strong message the people of this community care about and respect Chris Garrett," Mr. MacCoubrey said. "It's a wonderful donation and powerful message."

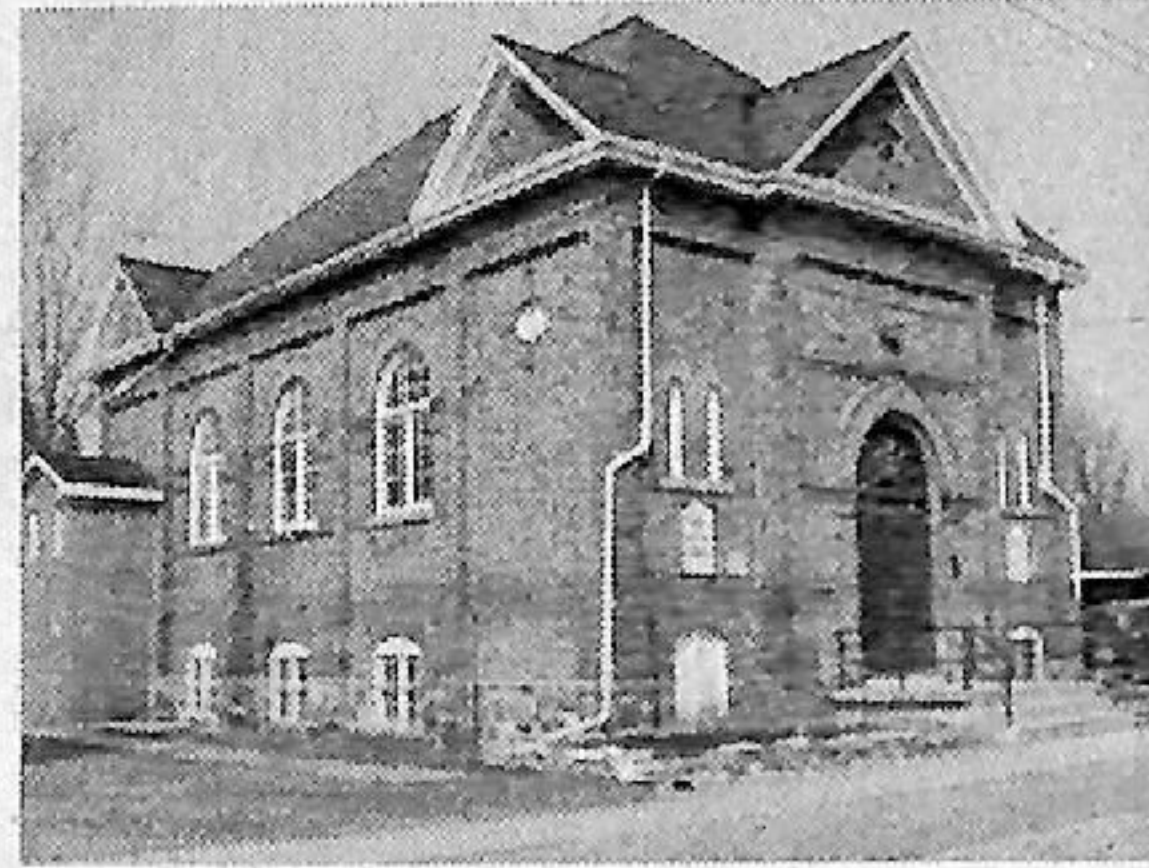

There will be an official unveiling of new signs spring 2008.
