

Wake up! It's Trash 'N Treasures time

It may be the weekend, but don't forget to set that alarm for early rising this Saturday morning, Aug. 11, if you want to catch the best bargains at this year's Trash 'N Treasures.

Based on the early rentals of tables for Victoria Square Park, this looks like it may be the busiest event ever.

Booths will open along the streets of the village of Colborne at daybreak. Coffee will be available in the park and at numerous village restaurants. The roads will be crammed with bargain hunters, wallets open to spend.

Don't miss this annual one-day act of madness. Who knows what

As of last Friday, Aug. 3, there is no progress to report on the repair of Mutton Bridge.

Cramahe Township staff met with Northumberland-Quinte West MP Rick Norlock July 27 and later that day in the township offices on Toronto Road in Colborne.

At the Toronto Road meeting, Mr. Norlock assured the township officials he would call Transport Canada to see if it can make the Mutton Bridge a priority. He won't tell federal staff to bump another project, but now that the township is this far along on the project he would like to see it get done.

New building passes 2006 activity level

After a slow start in 2007, building is picking up in Cramahe Township.

A third consecutive million-dollar month helped push Cramahe past the seven-month total of $5,164,335 attained at this time last year.

Sixteen permits were issued in
