WARD, Arthur Archibald - September 25, 1919-Jun 19, 2008 - Ward, Arthur Archibald, to most known as "Archie", died in the early morning of June 19th, 2008. Archie will be missed by his family and many friends. Archie's friendships developed throughout Ontario during his many years of active service as both professional Provincial civil servant and as a community service volunteer. After serving as a communications officer during WWII and graduating with a degree in Civil Engineering from Queen's University in Kingston, Archie moved to Port Hope, Ontario with his wife Beryl (R.B.) and founded Durham Construction. In the mid-1950's Archie sold Durham Construction and joined the Ministry of Transportation of Ontario, then known as Department of Highways of Ontario. He retired from his position as Director of Operations in 1978 and continued to work as a consultant for several years. Archie loved to tinker in the wood shop, contemplate life with a beer on the deck, putter in the yard, feed the birds, talk on the H.A.M. radio and spend time with special friends. At Ashby Lake, Archie was at his best - playing cribbage and poker parties, fishing and cruising in the Lalapooosa. In retirement, his efforts were focused primarily on community service through Rotary International and the United Way. Archie was Past-Chairman of the United Way, a life member of Rotary, a Paul Harris Fellow and a life member of the Ontario Good Roads Association. He is predeceased by his wife R.B. Ward on May 6th, 2008 and will be deeply missed. If desired, donations in memory of Archie can be made to the Fairmount Home, Kingston, ON.
