COBOURG — There's a new three-digit phone number in town to connect Northumberland County residents with the services they need when they need it.

It took just three rings for an operator to pick up the phone and say, "211. How can I help you?"

When Northumberland United Way executive director Lynda Kay told the operator he was the recipient of the call to officially launch 211 service to Northumberland County, he replied, "Welcome to the 211 family."

On Wednesday, May 19, in county council chambers, Ms. Kay, in the company of municipal, provincial and federal elected officials, and United Way and community services agency representatives officially launched 211, the free three-digit telephone number that gives callers access to informa-
