Today we post the story of the life of Castleton resident, Elwood Jones. Tomorrow we tell his recollections of Castleton before 1960. Thanks to the generosity of Elwood and his family, we have some great photos of his family today and of Castleton tomorrow.

We hope you enjoy.

Elwood Jones' life has been tempered by the memories of growing up on the family farm in Cramahe Township early in the Depression. Now 89, and with most of his full life behind him, he continues to look ahead.

Elwood was born on April 6, 1921, the third of seven sons born to Maud (Tuck) and Henry Clare. Elwood's brother, Harry, born four years later, continues to live in the home where they were born. It is a farm with a long Jones history.
