

Ms. Park noted that the twp. debt-to-liabilities ratio is good. Current long-term debt stands at $3 million.

Capital assets jumped by almost 15% to over $20 million, with the work being done on the waste water treatment plant and upgrades at the Keeler Centre.

Cramahe contracted out $1.5 million in services in 2011. Almost two-thirds went to the OPP for policing. Another quarter million was doled out on the waste water treatment expansion. The Transportation Department spent over $126,000, and the Planning and Development Department spent $80 thousand on consultants last year.

Last Updated on Friday, 23 March 2012 21:20

---