

S. A. (Sam) Cawker stands in front of the new school under construction on Simcoe Street North in Port Perry. The school will be named after him when it opens for classes this September. Close to 500 people in Scugog took the opportunity to vote on the name for the school. The new name will be official when the Durham Board ratifies the decision this week. As for Mr. Cawker, he said he's delighted. (see story for details)
