

History

History is in the making. Now is the time to record it.

The definition of History -is a written narrative of past facts and events affecting one or more people , countries ,etc. sometimes we are inclined to think of history as the stories we studied when we were young - Christopher Columbus 's study of America , Champlain's founding of Quebec and so on .

I'm sure all of us could name many important men of our time such as Winston Churchill ,Edward VIII, Queen Elizabeth, John F. Kennedy, and many others. But we are liable to forget that each one of us is making history every day of our lives.

Although these actions may seem trivial to us nevertheless they are making a lasting impression on those with whom we come in contact in our daily lives.

This is the reason that our Tweedsmuir History ,where all the im important events of our community are recorded, is so important.

We are indeed fortunate to have our Curator and her assistants to keep track of the happenings in our Community.

If you have anything to add to these findings ,they would be glad to hear about it.
