

Our Sun Reflections picture this week was taken in 1909 and features a number of local faces which should still be familiar to many people. Unfortunately, we have only 15 names for the 19 people shown. Here are their names, not necessarily in order: Gordon Buttle, Alex McLaren, Arch McLaren, Gus Humphries, Harry Buttle, Russel Purcell, Bob Dunlop, Walter Graham, Lennox Purcell, Benny Lemman, George Purcell, Bob Purcell, Murray Purcell, Bob Eckford and Isaac Eckford. Though it's not known where the photo was taken, it's clear that a steam engine is being used to do some threshing.

This photograph, taken many years ago at Haley Station, shows the way things used to be on the CPR. These five railroaders are shown with an old fashioned hand car, which was used to transport railway workers before the small motorized cars
