June 1995

Walter Walker

By Elsie Blay.

To ere is Human;
To admit it, Superman.
Doug Larson

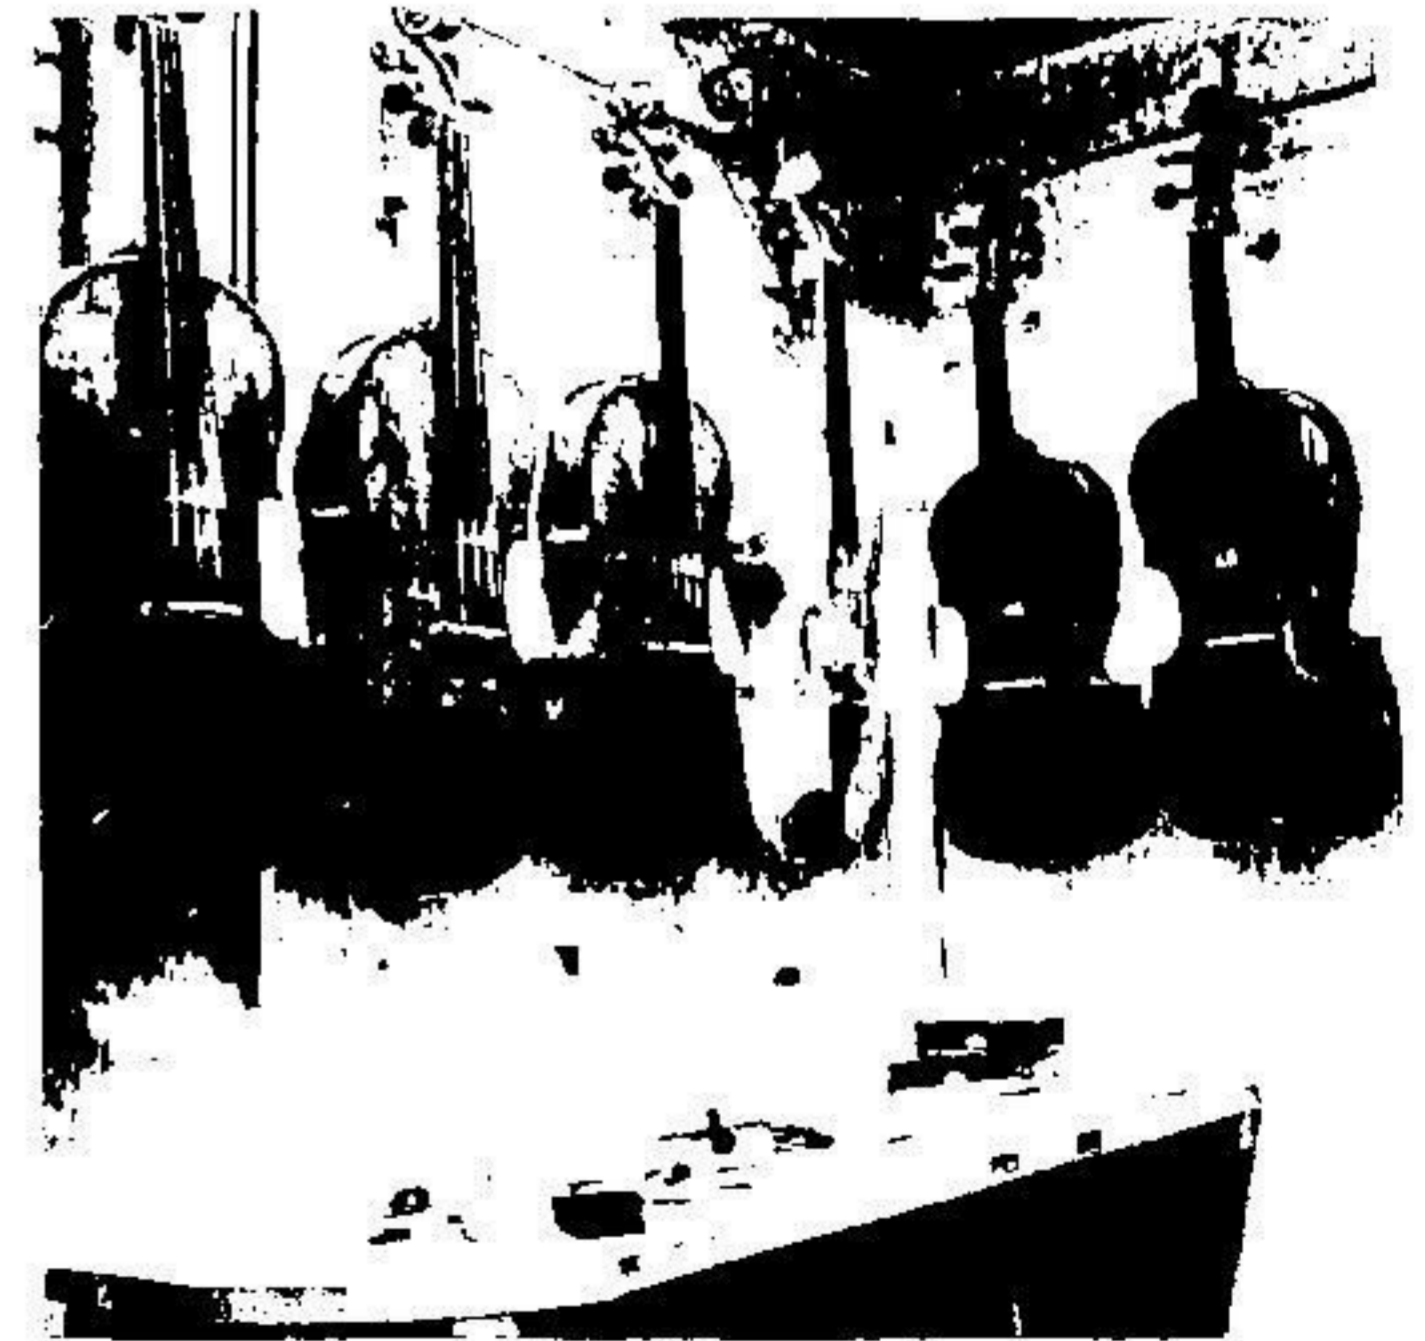

Our profile this month features Walter Walker and his fiddles. After retiring and with spare time on his hands he made his first fiddle in 1992. From that time onto 1995 he has made 10 fiddles, and also some wooden fiddle cases.

One fiddle case holds 2 fiddles & bows. The cases are lined with velvet and are certainly pieces he can be proud of.

Walter also owns an Italian made fiddle that belonged to his grandfather, and has been in the Walker family for over 100 years. Walter has repaired it, but still plays it along with his other fiddles at various times, but he does have his favorite.

He has numerous trophies from fiddling contests over the years, and is very capable of playing an old time reel, waltz or easy listening gospel music.

Way to go, Walter, may you enjoy playing your fiddles for many more years to come.
