

Reports on the topic of Education included accounts of active participation by local teachers.

They attended meetings and discussed such subjects as.

When is a child ready for school?
 Have you prepared your child for school?
 The teacher's obligations to her pupils.
 Subjects taught in our schools
 Helpful suggestions for beginners at school

Three branches indicated that they had awarded books as prizes at local schools, donated books to local libraries and provided shelves for library books, as well as indexing the books.

Roll Calls on education were:

1. How I can help the teacher at home.
2. A question concerning education which I would like to ask. (This was answered by teachers present)

One branch reported sponsoring the 4-H Club and also had a talk on the 4-H in British Columbia.

I would like to suggest that it is helpful when preparing programs, to read over the Functions of Standing Committees in the Handbooks for ideas as to subjects which might be profitably studied.

I move the adoption of this report.
