Printmaking — Sarah Puffer, 4, with mom Debbie, above, needs some extra force in pressing her glass print onto her paper to create her design. In upper left photo, Sarah is fully absorbed in designing her creation and, lower right, she displays the finished result. The Art Gallery of Northumberland, in co-operation with the Cramahe Township Public Library, presented the printmaking workshop for about 30 youngsters in Castleton last Wednesday morning. It is part of the art gallery's outreach work with children of Northumberland. Photos by Eileen Argyris
