

MRS. D. P. CAMPBELL

Mrs. D. P. Campbell, the former Margaret Wright and daughter of the late Wm. Wright and Mary Fraser, passed away in Kincardine and District General Hospital on Sunday, March 12, 1972.

She was the last survivor of a family of ten who came to Canada in 1891 from Bamffshire, Scotland to the village of Glamis. The following spring Wm. Wright purchased a farm at the village of Armow.

As a girl, she went to London to train for a nurse. This profession later proved to be a source of joy to her in her life in the district in the helping of others. She loved to visit and attend members of families who were ill or in trouble in the community, bringing with her flowers from her abundant garden.

In 1901 she married D. P. Campbell who predeceased her in 1946. The couple settled on a farm on the fifth concession of Kincardine Township and here spent their entire lives in a community they loved. A dedicated member of Chalmers church, she received many citations over the years for her contributions to the church and the area in which she lived.

In 1951 she won the first "Roses for You" award from a Toronto Radio Station as being one of the most thoughtful and outstanding women of the community.

In her later years, she once said, "My life has been nothing but happiness. I have seen yesterday, I am not afraid of tomorrow and I love today." Such was her philosophy of life.

She loved people and of the innumerable people who passed through her home they all left a contribution to her happiness.

She leaves to mourn one son, Wellington of Kincardine, one granddaughter, Mrs. Ronald Harris of Rexdale, two great granddaughters and several nieces and nephews. One son, Harold, predeceased her in 1941.

Rev. Robt. Clyde conducted the funeral services from the Linklater Funeral Home which included a duet by Mrs. Clarence Campbell and Mrs. Reginald Davey.

Pallbearers were Ralph Robertson, John Shier, Walter Farrell, Harold Hendry, Duncan Convay and Ronald Norman.

Flower bearers were Clyde MacKeeman, Donald Coon, John Bushel, John Hedley, Ronald Slade and Raymond Bradley.
