

There were likely more kilts being worn on Queen Street Saturday night than there were in Scotland. The massed band was the highlight of the 25th annual Gathering of the Bands. According to the Kincardine Scottish Pipe Band, there were 281 pipers and drummers registered to walk in the Saturday night march. (Josh Howald photo)

July 1 2016

Move it along, folks

This cat was confident in its ownership of Princes Street on Saturday afternoon, herding pipers and drummers from all over the world into Victoria Park for the pipe band competitions at the 17th annual Kincardine Scottish Festival and Highland Games. (Josh Howald photo)