

Relief effort volunteers

An armful of goods

Connie Douglas, from Union Church, has armfuls of goods for the ice storm relief effort. Members from several church communities packed a truckload of goods and wood for delivery to a small town near the Ontario/Quebec border.

Wellburn pastoral charge organizes relief effort

Many church communities, including Wellburn, Lakeside, Union, Thorndale, Browns, North Nissouri and South Nissouri Presbyterian, along with lots of friends, neighbours and businesses, donated to a relief effort for Eastern Ontario. Wellburn United was the drop-off site and volunteers were kept busy on the weekend loading up items. Here, volunteer Todd Arthur receives a load of firewood Saturday afternoon from three generous contributors. (Photo by Darlene Doupe)
