

Gardens Galore project a success. Sponsored by the St. Marys Agricultural Society, The project involved the planting of vegetables at the town gardens, a summer of weeding and watering and then the donation of the harvested tomatoes, onions, carrots and potatoes to the Salvation Army Food Bank. St. Marys Horticultural Society members shared their expertise in the planting, weeding and watering sessions. Co-ordinators of the project were Cathie Szmon and Chris Redfern. A barbecue was enjoyed after the vegetables were collected on Saturday, August 31. Some of the helpers at the harvest posed for a photo. Once again, individual citizens and the Rotary Club have come to the rescue of the library's magazine subscription. "We're very grateful". Chief Librarian Barb Taylor said in an interview.

A number of years ago Oxford North and South District Women's Institutes took on the ambitious project of providing Ross Butler's pictures of farm animals with updated teaching information to all the schools in Ontario. These were to help with Agriculture in the classroom instruction, as most teachers did not have access to good farm animal pictures.
