

Ed Heal of The Free Press

Split shift

Londoner Roy Stone, 90, swings an axe Thursday near Melbourne, splitting logs as he has since boyhood. Chopping wood regularly in a bush owned by long-time friend Harvey Graff "keeps me going," said Stone, who retired from farming in West Nissouri Township in 1956.

Free Press - January 17, 1986.