

Arthur & Nellie Holland
and son Mack

Mack, Wray and Shirley Holland

In 1962 Mack bought the farm from his parents.

In 1964 the dairy cattle were sold and Mack with the assistance of his father went into cash crop farming and raised and sold pigs. Later in that same year Mack purchased the farm to the west. Lot 26, Concession 10, from Doug. Mallard, and turned his now 250 acres into a beef operation. The line fence between the two farms were taken out and the fields were joined together. This farm had 100 acres.

In 1972 Mack Holland was married and he and his wife Jean are the present owners of the farm.

The house caught fire in 1961, when a spark from the chimney landed on the roof and started a fire. Fortunately Arthur Holland and the neighbors, Bob Marsland were able to get it out before fireman got there. There was some damage done to the roof and ceiling of one of the bedrooms.

Antique Machinery

We have a buggy and cutter used by Arthur and Nellie Holland, used in their early married life.
