A WEEKLY JOURNAL DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF AGRICULTURE, LITERATURE, AND TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE RESOURCES OF THE SOUTH RIDING OF OXFORD.

NO. 22.

A MARVEL OF TATTOOING.

A Remarkable Subject from the Islands of the Maltese Chase Part.

Capt. George Costantino, a descended of a noble family, arrived in New York recently. From head to foot every part of his body, including even his scalp and the soles of his feet, is stately colored tattooing, in letters and and figures of quadrupeds, birds, fishes and reptiles. Capt. Costantino is tall, dark, complexioned, of superb physique, and about forty-five years of age. He does not read English, but and in the Italian, Arabic, Turkish and French and German, and a few words of Spanish. He is a good sailor, and has spent his life at sea, and has been on board of many vessels, and has been to nearly every port in the world.

He has been to the South Seas, to the Indies, to Africa, to India, to China, to Japan, to Australia, to New Zealand, to South America, to Brazil, to the West Indies, to the East Indies, to the Maltese Islands, to Sicily, to Italy, to France,
