

Chesley District High School's Midget Girls' volleyball team won a Midget Girls' volleyball tournament at Walkerton District last Tuesday. Team members include (back row -left to right) Leslie Burrow, Alison Gray, LeeAnn Hampton, Jennifer Cooper, Michelle Thorne, Jennifer O'Leary, Jennifer Klages and Amy Clements, along with Coach Linda Schaab. In the front are Laurie Smith, Jackie Stark, Lesley Luckhart, Krista MacDougall and Amanda Fullerton. The team's other coach, Jason Wepler, was absent when the photo was taken. (Golem photo)

Chesley Scouts gathered four large boxes full of canned goods throughout the Chesley Candlelight Christmas parade route on December 2nd. Scout Leader Henry Paliga and Scouter Ryan Paliga show off the food. The donations were taken along with goods, and a check, received from St. John's United Church's White Gift service held December 4th, to the Salvation Army in Hanover. Army Lieut. Doug Stevens was amazed with, and thankful for, the generosity of Chesley area residents. (Elder photo)

Ken Schott, son of Rick and Brenda Schott, has just completed a five-week assignment as a page in the Ontario Legislature. He is shown here in his page uniform with MPP Morin of the Ottawa area, who filled the vacancy left by the resignation of Bruce MPP Murray Elston and adopted Ken as his page. (Photo submitted)

"For it is giving that we receive . . ." Area residents and school children have demonstrated their generosity and have donated 1,000 pounds of non-perishable food items to the Chesley Hospital's annual food drive. Although response was slow at first, organizer of the drive for the Hospital, Dianne Strong, said she has been "overwhelmed" by the response. Last year, just over 500 pounds of food were collected. Last Wednesday morning, Rotary exchange student from Australia, Rebecca Graham (front left) and Chesley Rotarian Aileen Haley helped Dianne Strong pack some of the $100 worth of groceries members of the Chesley Rotary Club donated to the drive. All of the food collected will be given to the Walkerton and Area Food Bank, which offers assistance to needy families in the Chesley area. To all who donated, thank you for caring! You have helped make this holiday season a little merrier for the less fortunate. (Golem photo)
