Then we went up Wester Ross and down to Inverness, down the side of Loch Ness to Fort William then through the Perthshire Highlands.

We stayed at York and visited Yorkminster which was quite a sight, then down to Alford in Lincolnshire. We stayed at the "White House Inn". Jack's Dad used to own this hotel before coming to Canada, the hotel is over 500 years old.

On the way back to Scotland we stopped at Lincoln, saw the Cathedral and the open air market. Then Saturday we went to Edinburgh, saw the Castle the Royal Mile Holyrood Palace and the Scottish National Art Gallery then down to Burns Cottage.

Jean said each day they went somewhere and especially enjoyed the trip.
