7 is washed out at Arnold's creek, three miles west of Kakabeka falls. A detour at this point is being made and the department is advising west travellers to take the route out of Port Arthur.

Some Areas Unscathed

Although rain damage was fairly heavy in some areas, some areas escaped with only a patter of and grain crops were levelled by the hammering hail, the first in some years. The wind increased the crop devastation and the Trans-Canada highway three miles west of Kakabeka Falls was cut out by rain-swollen Arnold's creek. A barn was reported destroyed in the Murillo district.

Kakabeka Falls and in O'Connor townships, corn, grain and potatoes are expected to be flattened by the hail, though garden truck was damaged, of course.

Kakabeka Falls one resident said the hailstones as "big as marbles" adding that this was an unusual occurrence of course.

On rains yesterday washing out the highway west of Kaka-beka Falls and guards were posted at the night in shifts to keep traffic at Arnold's creek in O'Connor township. While there was no traffic in the Kakabeka Falls area between six and seven p.m.,

Principals in Police Probe

Above are shown Josef Panok, 34, whose iron-weighted body was recovered from the McIntyre river, Port Arthur, last Friday, with his wife, Margret, 29. At right is George Hlady, 33, who roomed and boarded with them at 745 Simpson street.
Chief T. A. Connor said this morning Panok had been murdered and that his wife and Hlady are being held in connection with the case on vagrancy charges laid yesterday afternoon.
