Inspector Sime stated that investigation revealed that Sinden and Crawley had left a beverage room in the company of two other men. One of them drove his car to Robertson St. where, Sinden, Crawley and Milne got out. On leaving, Sinden, who was not wearing a mask, ripped the telephone wires from the wall. On Sept. 27, Sinden and Crawley were picked from a lineup and arrested.

Crown Attorney P. V. Ibbetson brought out that both accused had records. Crawley was fined for causing a disturbance on Oct. 2, 1959, causing wilful damage and assault, causing actual bodily harm in 1955.

Sinden had served four months in 1958 for criminal negligence and in the same year was convicted of causing a disturbance and escape.

Defence attorneys brought out that neither Crawley nor Sinden received any of the $11 stolen and that both were under the influence of alcohol at the time. The celebrations are expected to be accompanied by a meeting at which the leaders will try to solve the war-or-coexistence differences between Russia and China on the inevitability of war with the West.

Auto Attack Causes Burn About Head

Nipigon Ontario Provincial Police are investigating a vicious acid attack which took place last night upon Dr. E. R. Somerleigh, Nipigon general practitioner and town councilman.

Dr. Somerleigh had just left a meeting of the town council and was driving in his car at about 10 p.m. when an unknown assailant poured what is believed to be concentrated sulphuric acid over the doctor's head.

IS RECOVERING

The doctor was taken to Nipigon Memorial Hospital following the attack and was later transferred to McKellar General Hospital, Fort William, where his condition is reported as "quite good" today. He is suffering from undetermined acid burns, mainly to his face.

Nipigon OPP reported that Dr. Somerleigh had just left a meeting of the town's finance committee and was driving home when the attack occurred. The doctor had reached an area near Newton and Third streets when an assailant, who had possibly been crouched in the rear of the doctor's car, poured or threw acid over the doctor's head.

The attack occurred at a point where lanes intersect the road on both sides. Unable to obtain immediate aid, Dr. Somerleigh, blinded by the acid, drove his
