Prof. Loisette's MEMORY

DISCOVERY AND TRAINING METHOD

In spite of adulterated imitations which miss the theory, and practical results of the Original, in spite of the grossest misrepresentations by envious would-be competitors, and in spite of "base attempts to rob" him of the fruit of his labors, (all of which demonstrate the undoubted superiority and popularity of his teaching), Prof. Loisette's Art of Never Forgetting is recognized to-day in both Hemispheres as marking an Epoch in Memory Culture. His Prospectus (sent post free) gives opinions of people in all parts of the globe who have actually studied his System by correspondence, showing that his System is used only while being studied, not afterwards; that any book can be learned in a single reading, mind-wandering cured, &c. A prominent Trafalgar farmer recently used "Rough-on-Rats" poison around his outbuildings extensively, for the purpose of destroying a few little sparrows, which had taken possession of his barn and house top. The high winds blew the poison on to the ground, and one morning he was horrified, upon going out to the barnyard, to find his highly priced turkeys, geese, and other fowl lying dead. This ought to be a warning to people not to fool with deadly poisons in such a reckless fashion as some of them do.—[Streetsville Review.

Mr. Jerrit's planing factory at Alliston was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The origin of the fire is unknown, and is thought from the hour it commenced, to have been incendiary. The loss will be heavy to Mr. Jerrit, as there was only $1000 insurance on the building and plant, and one of the planing machines was valued at $1500. Besides the machinery all the woodwork they had been preparing was consumed and the loss can not be less than $6000, probably more.—[Creemore Star.

ABDUCTION.—Durham and vicinity has been treated to quite a sensation by the action of Michael Smith, of Glenelg, just east of the town, skipping out on Friday evening last, accompanied by Theresa, the 14 year old daughter of David Darby, jr. Saturday morning, Constable Carson was despatched in pursuit of the fugitives and succeeded in arresting Smith at Kincardine, and returned with him to Durham on Monday. Quite a number of the citizens were at the station to greet Mr. Smith's return. On Tuesday at 10 o'clock the case was heard before the Mayor and Reeve in the Town Hall. The Hall was crowded, as considerable interest was awakened over the case. Several witnesses were examined, and the evidence clearly proved sufficient to warrant the committal of Smith to Owen Sound to stand his trial on the charge of abduction. It was shown in evidence that Smith had taken the girl to Kincardine put up at the hotel and roomed with her. Tuesday afternoon the prisoner was escorted up to Owen Sound by Constable Carson to await his trial. Smith is a man about 42 years old, has a wife and six children, living on the farm known as the Tucker farm. He has been living in the vicinity for about three years, having come from the vicinity of Egremont P. O. His victim is the eldest daughter of D. Darby, a slim, childlish looking girl of 14 years. Smith has been known to have had clandestine meetings with the girl for some time, and even the public press has called attention to his conduct. If the case is clearly proven, an example should be made of a man of his years, with a wife and family, who would act towards them and a neighbor's child in the manner indicated by the evidence at hand. We don't think the parents of the girl are entirely free from blame in the matter, as there has been considerable gossip rife for a long time.—[Review.
