Methodists of Paisley do not honor the prophets of their own country, and close their church when local "supplies" are hinted at. In many instances outside of Paisley it would be the part of wisdom to do likewise.

Keep Them Together.

For some time Flesherton brass band has been hovering between life and extinction, but we are very glad to note that the former has prevailed and the usual practice is again being proceeded with. It would be a great pity indeed were our band to be snuffed out of existence. In connection with this we would suggest that our citizens give the band a little more encouragement than they have in the past. Why could not a small subscription be raised to defray the expenses of a weekly concert on our village square. As music loving citizens we would all thoroughly enjoy a treat of this kind, and it would do more to cement our band together and perfect it than all the windy talk that could be indulged in from now until doomsday. Will our citizens think over this question?

Fishing and Hunting.

Lovers of Rod, Gun and Canoe, should not fail to secure copies of the book "Fishing and Shooting," issued by the General Passenger Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for the season of 1890. It is bound in convenient pocket form and contains a vast amount of reliable information concerning the best localities for game and fish in the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Assiniboia, Alberta and British Columbia, and the states of Maine, Michigan and Wisconsin; the whole embellished with numerous handsome illustrations. Covering as it does the haunts of game and fish from the Atlantic to the Pacific, it should prove invaluable to the followers of Nimrod and Walton. Copies furnished free upon application to W. R. Calla way, District Passenger Agent, 118 King St. West, Toronto; D. McNeill, General Passenger Agent, Montreal.

Salt—One car load just received at R. Triamble's.

We Observe That

It is astonishing what hardships a man will undergo, under certain conditions and call them fun. Now there are these camping out and fishing excursions. The tent is pitched in some secluded spot where mosquitos abound, where flies of every known species buzz around and drown themselves in your drink and eatables, and other ills too numerous to mention, as sale bills say, are lurking ready to spring upon the victim. You cook your own victuals and wash your own dishes; you make your own bed and lie awake all night and claw around in the dark in a vain search after a few of the five million mosquitos which are searching for your gore. Now if a man's own lawful wife should ask him to undergo one quarter of this for her sake he would apply for a berth in the lunatic asylum to plant her in. But such are the inconsistencies of the male nature. What galls us most, however, is the awful way mankind will lie about the poetry of resting on his odoriferous bed of boughs and listening to the strange and pleasant sounds of evening, or rising early to view the ge-lorious morning atmosphere and "natures glad awakening," while he does not even mention the serious inconveniences undergone. To our mind one night in the midst of a howling, roaring brigade of mosquitos should entitle a man to the softest snap in Mr. Mowat's gift—a registrar or County constableness, for instance. We spent three days in camp below Kimberley last week and came home alive. It was beautiful, and we thoroughly enjoyed ourselves. We intend to return some day when our system has fully recovered from the serious drainage of life blood which took place on that battle field. It may be a year or two but sometime we will once more face the enemy, so help us! Listen for our war whoop.

Grass Scythes and all kinds of hay and harvest tools can be had at lowest prices at Richardson's Hardware store.

A garden party was held under the auspices of the R. T. of T., on the public school grounds on Tuesday evening. The crowd was somewhat small, but those who were there appeared to thoroughly enjoy themselves. The refreshments were good and supplied plentifully. Everything passed off pleasantly, with the exception of an incident which exhibited a woful want of gentlemanly culture on the part of two young men. We have not heard what the proceeds amounted to.

Big Bargain in Grey Flannels bought below cost of manufacture. They are splendid value and everybody who uses these goods should see and secure some at M. Richardson & Co's.

Successful.

We notice by Tuesday's dailies that Miss M. C. Ganton, our late second form teacher, and W. J. Blakeston, late of Swinton Park, have been successful in securing second class professional certificates at the late Normal school examinations in Ottawa. Our congratulations are tendered to both.

Millinery Stock kept well assorted with fresh goods. Keeps this department very busy at M. Richardson & Co's.

Our Scrap Book.

OUR DETECTIVES.

This world is getting too small to hold certain kinds of bad people. Two years ago a bank messenger in New York stole a package of bank notes worth forty-one thousand dollars. He cunningly kept on with his work as usual for a year, and then removed with his stolen money to Honduras, where he lived quietly and in much confidence, because there is no extradition treaty between Honduras and the United States; but all this time a detective was shadowing him, and finally got the money from him, and will probably get the man.

Last year a thief was arrested in South America, 8 years after the commission of a robbery in the United States. There is now a secret understanding among the police authorities and detective agencies over the greater part of the globe. They assist one another in such ways as to render it all but impossible for a criminal to escape, into whatever part of the earth he may go.

Nothing can outstrip the electric current, which now passes over nearly all lands and under nearly all seas.

We often hear nowadays of defaulters running away, with or without their booty, and we do not always hear of their arrest. Generally, however, they are arrested, though sometimes they escape the penalty due their crime by surrendering a great part of their plunder. The system is not yet perfected, and its working is attended with too much expense. The time is not distant when the chief of police in New York or Boston will be able to arrest a man in Australia just as easily, quickly and cheaply as if he were in the next street.
