Thanksgiving Day.
Lord hear the songs of grateful praise Which from our hearts to Thee we raise On this Thanksgiving Day;
For all the mercies of the year, And for Thy presence ever near We thankful homage pay.
Thy promise is again fulfilled,
The fields with patient labor tilled Have yielded ample store,
And for our wants so well supplied,
For all our longings satisfied, We do Thy name adore.
The beautiful flowers have smiled again,
The fields have waved with golden grain By Thy protecting care, And grass and fruit and all things meet,
For comfort, food and fragrance sweet, Thy ceaseless love declare.
No pestilence with deadly hand, No war to desolate our land, Didst Thou upon us send,
And for Thy gifts of health and peace, For steady growth and rich increase, Shall praise to Thee ascend.
For gospel blessings scattered wide,
For light and love on every side And holy Sabbath days,
For happy hours and friendships dear,
And righteous laws, with hearts sincere We join in grateful praise.

The Pickering News celebrated last week the completion of its ninth annual tour. The News is our most spicy exchange. Long life and prosperity continued, Messrs. Clark Bros.

Remember the service in the Methodist church this (Thursday) afternoon.
Tea in the evening. Thorough arrangements have been made and an extra good Here is a brotherly swipe given by the tributor without salary to the Port Perry Standard, reminds us of an old man and the ass with the old man omitted, and apologies to the quadruped.

There is no necessity for arguing the question of whether advertising pays or not. If you think it don't take in your signs and pull down the blinds. Keep quiet—the goose may lay a golden egg in your woodshed.—Ex.

S. Damude has commenced buying stave timber again. He intends buying a large quantity this season, principally soft elm. Those having such timber will do well to make a note of this, as he always pays cash. Call on him early and get prices and directions for splitting.

We have received a communication from some of the boys who were accused of attending a shabivari at Maxwell and endeavoring to defend their own conduct. In our opinion they had better let the matter drop, as they did what was clearly illegal, and might get themselves into trouble.

We have received the annual announcement of the Northern Business College, Owen Sound. From its pages we learn that the institution is fast growing in favor with the people. It could not be otherwise with a gentlemanly principal like Mr. C. A. Fleming at the head.

We commend the letter published elsewhere in this issue written by Mr. John McArthur, to the earnest attention of every ratepayer in this township. The Advance believes that the ward system should be done away with, and that Mr.
McArthur's arguments on that score are sound. Mr. McArthur informed us on Monday that it is not his intention to seek re-election for the coming year.
This we think a great pity, as he has made a good and efficient officer on the council board, and it will not be an easy matter to secure his equal.

For Fine Merchant Tailoring go to C. J. Leitch, as he has the material and facilities for turning out first class work.

A show dropped into town on Tuesday of last week without any advance advertising of any kind. They held forth in the Town Hall, and we believe about made enough to clear expenses. They were in a big streak of luck to do that.
It was a ten-cent show, and ten cents was about nine and ninety-nine onehundredths of a cent more than it was worth. You can pretty generally conclude that when a company drops into a place as this did, without the aid of advance advertising, with the intention of surprising the natives, that it is not up to much. The show came in on a wagon rack and went out by train next morning before breakfast. They went with the intention of storming Dundalk. The manager is a gentleman—on the wrong side of his face—as we have reason to know. Publishers will do well to beware of him.

Boy Wanted.

of age, to learn the mercantile business.

Notice.
At the request of Wm. Bradley, miller, of Flesherton, I have carefully examined the flouring mill, and throughout the mill, in the most suspicious corners. I have not found under a magnifier any trace of moths or their product. The mill is clean from top to bottom, and the flour pure. Any reports to the contrary nevertheless are false.

Dr. Sinclair Coming.
Dr. Sinclair, the well known and popular specialist, of Toronto, will be at Munshaw hotel, Flesherton, on Friday, Nov. 14th. Remember the day and date. Jonathan Busehart, Listowell, says:—I spent all my money and property on medical men for what they termed consumption and Dr. Sinclair cured me. Geo. Rowed, Blythe, says:—

Capt. Andrews.
We had a pleasant call on Saturday last from Capt. Andrews, of Toronto.
The captain has in the neighborhood of forty medals for life-saving heroism.
The book, giving a record of his deeds and illustrations of the various medals, is well worth the price asked. Perhaps the most interesting of all his medals is that given by Kalakaua, king of Hawaii, last year. It is a beautiful piece of workmanship—exact miniature of the crown, set in rubys and emeralds. It is very valuable. Captain Andrews was much pleased with the reception he got while here, and said he had met with only one refusal to purchase his book. Wonder who that one person was?

Hallowe'en.
Hallowe'en passed off with the usual reclat in this village. The fun was "fast and furious," but of a rather innocent nature. A crowd of funny little boys went around marauding, taking off gates, throwing peas at windows, running wagons down to the Boyne, etc., and a brood of silly maidens barricaded Dr. Carter's office door. The Dr. will no doubt get even with some or all of those girls yet before they die. It is understood that the girls were protesting against the doctor's confirmed bachelorhood. The most reprehensible trick we have heard of was the sinking of Fred Karstedt's wagon box in Flesher's mill pond. It was cold fishing and Mr. Karstedt had to work a long while before the box would bite. It eventually took hold and was yanked out, only, however, to be dumped in again while Fred went for his horse.

Such mean tricks as these are really carrying all Hallowe'en jokes a little too far. There was a saur kraut social at Munshaw's hotel in the evening. It was attended by a goodly number of "skrouters," who thoroughly enjoyed themselves, more especially the one who got struck in the eye with a good solid piece of kraut. Perhaps we do not look at it in the right light, but it does appear to us that the world would be in a sad condition if Hallowe'en were relegated to the barbaric ages. It would be a great pity indeed if poor humanity were deprived of the privilege of making, once per annum, jackasses and jennyasses of themselves.

They are Passing Away.
The general quiet and security that usually prevails in the Meaford Road section of our constituency have been very solemnly disturbed. Bad news always spreads rapidly. Before these columns see the light most of our readers will have heard the death knell telling the sad truth that Mr. Thomas Stam-borskie is no more. Last Saturday morning he rose in about his usual health.
As was his custom he went to the barn and stable, and in a short time returned and sat to the table to breakfast. Before he began to eat, his wife noticed a change in his looks, and as he appeared unusually thoughtful, she asked him if anything was troubling him. With his usual considerateness he replied: "I was just wondering what is to become of you and the children." In another moment his chair was empty. Death had done his work, and "The heart but once heaved and forever grew still."

The deceased was in his 50th year. He came to Canada very early in life. He lived for a time in the Queen's valley, and later purchased the farm of his father-in-law, Mr. Wm. Knight, where he was at the time of his death. Throug-out the community he is known, and will be remembered as an affectionate husband, a kind father, a good neighbor and a steady industrious man. A widow, four sons and one daughter are left behind and very keenly feel the loss they have sustained. The interment took place on Monday at the Orange Valley cemetery. A large number of sympathizing friends assembled. Rev. T. Watson conducted a short service at the house and Rev. Mr. Emes officiated at the grave.

Lord, how mysterious are Thy ways!
Thy dealings, who can understand?
Thou numberest all our mortal days,
For life and death are in Thy hand.

Our life on earth is but a span,
And full of care each hour appears;
We spend our days to toil and plan,
And to provide for future years.

Our presence oft seems needed sore,
And loved ones lean upon our arm,
And duty presses more and more;
We want to shield our homes from harm.

And yet, how vain is every boast,
And every plea to urge delay, For just when man seems needed most Then sudden death calls him away.

And wife, and friends and children dear Are filled with sorrow, grief and pain: Oh, gracious God, do Thou appear And heal their broken hearts again.

And may Thy tender care divine Afford them succor and relief, And through their darkness sweetly shine And thus assuage their blinding grief.

For Thou art GOD and to Thy will We bow in lowly, reverent trust, Convinced, oh now, Thou doest fulfil A purpose kind, and great, and just.

Railway Collision.
OWEN SOUND, Nov. 5.—The down passenger train which leaves Owen Sound at 5.45 a.m. collided with light engine, fireman, named Smith, badly wounded.

Both engines were ditched. The accident was caused by the dead man. No others, as far as known were wounded.
Full particulars of the accident have not yet been received.
