My Shepherd

"The Lord is my shepherd." So sings The Psalmist of Israel sublime; And through all the ages there rings The sound of his heavenly chime.

"The Lord is my shepherd," said he, "And therefore no want shall I know; Green pastures he gives unto me, And leads where the still waters flow."

"The Lord is my shepherd divine, And he my poor soul doth restore, And leadeth these footsteps of mine In pathways of right evermore."

"The Lord is my shepherd. No fear In death's darkest vale shall be mine; His presence I know will be near And fill me with comfort divine."

"The Lord as my shepherd doth spread My table in front of my foes; With oil he anointeth mine head, With gladness my cup overflows."

"The Lord is my shepherd; and sure His goodness and mercy alway Shall follow me every hour, For still in his house will I stay."

The Lord is my shepherd, therefore Like Israel's sweet psalmist and king, I'll lean on his arm evermore, Nor fear what the future may bring.

Tobacco Rendered Harmless.

"Very few smokers realize the extent of the harm done to the mouth, heart, and nerves by tobacco," says a well-known physician in the Philadelphia Inquirer, who has just returned from the Berlin Medical Congress. "When I was in Europe, I learned of a simple and effective method of rendering tobacco entirely harmless without destroying its aroma. The method was discovered by Dr. Gantrelot, of Vichy, and it should be regarded as a priceless boon to smokers. It consists of a small piece of cotton wool, steeped in a five or ten per cent. solution of pyrogallic acid, inserted in pipe or cigar-holder. This will neutralize any possible ill-effect of the nicotine. In this way, not only may the generally admitted evils of smoking be overcome, but cirrhosis of the liver, which is sometimes caused by tobacco, and lighter effects of overindulgence, such as headache and furring of the tongue, may be avoided. Citric acid, which was recommended by Vigier, for the same purpose, has the serious disadvantage of spoiling the taste of the tobacco."
