We the undersigned Auditors for the Township of Artemesia for the year ending December the 31st, 1890, have pleasure in certifying that we have gone over the Treasurer's accounts and carefully compared the receipts and disbursements with the vouchers relative thereto, and find the same correct in every particular, and that the balance on hand on the said 31st December was $2210.51 (two thousand, two hundred and ten dollars and fifty one-cents).

Dated, Treasurer's office, Flesherton, February 17, 1891.

Priceville.
From our own Correspondent.

The farmers and their men seem to be busy in the fields again, preparing the ground for the seed. The first furrow that we know of was turned in the township of Glenelg on the 13th of March.

Coughs and colds seem to be the order of the day at present.

Two cases of typhoid fever and one of rheumatic fever last week; each victim is recovering, however.

The saw mill ceased operating during the latter half of week before last, owing to "high water," but is again in operation. There are some very large saw logs in the yard here. One nice, round, solid elm measures 38½ inches in diameter at small end.

The past winter has been rather hard on apiarists, as only a small percentage of hives have survived the winter, at least in this vicinity.

Grand Worthy Patriarch Brooks, of Toronto, visited the Sons of Temperance here last week.

Two school boys quarreled one day week before last, and one bad-tempered little urchin stabbed the other in the arm with a knife. The case was not prosecuted, but the trustees gave the offender a severe reprimand and warned him regarding the future.

A friend from S. P. called on us the other day and reported "all activity in the 'Park'; no idleness indulged in, not even the throwing of latin dictionaries over wood piles at each others heads, as practised a few weeks ago."

Well that was a "buster" of a quilting over in Proton, as reported two weeks ago, and no doubt the ears of a good many absentees would be "tingling" during the confab on that great day.

Painting, paper hanging, house cleaning and soap making seem to be booming just now.

At L'Original yesterday Narcissa Larocque was arraigned on the charge of murdering the McGonigle girls, and his trial will commence this morning.
