Mr. Arthur Johnston, of the Meaford road, was very much surprised on Friday last, while working in his field, to see two fine deer come out of the swamp and feed in the field. Mr. Johnston said they looked handsome, and it reminded him of old times.

It is quite amusing to read in our exchanges of the large catches of speckled trout made on May 1. In most cases the great catches amounted to forty or fifty. Hugh! Our sporting editor went out that day and caught 119, and didn't think it worth while blowing about in last week's paper, either.

Two more deaths are added to our mortuary list this week, one of a young man just out of his teens, and the other of an aged gentleman who had seen eighty-eight winters. As the mower cuts the tender blade with the ripened stock, so death raps both the young and the old.

An Accident. While Mr. S. Thompson, of the back line west, was driving to church on Sunday last a wheel came off the Democrat, precipitating the occupants to the ground. Mrs. Cunningham, who lives near Markdale, was very severely injured by the fall, and other members of the party were badly shaken up.

Fallen Through. Villagers have reason to congratulate themselves upon the fact that the negotiations which were in progress between Mr. Moore and Mr. Lever for an exchange of properties, by which exchange Mr. Moore would transfer his business to the station, has fallen through, and Mr. Moore will still continue in the furniture business at his old stand.

This is a fine animal with a splendid pedigree, and has also been a successful horse.

We invite attention to Mr. Buchanan's advertisement elsewhere of his well-bred shorthorn "Pickering Prince." This animal has been noticed before in these columns. He was purchased from Mr. Miller, of Pickering. His pedigree speaks for itself.

A Popular Change. The publishers of the London Advertiser have just made an important change in the publication of their favorite weekly, the Western Advertiser. Instead of appearing once a week as a twelve-page paper, it is now issued in eight-page form twice a week—on Tuesdays and Fridays—which is a gain to the reader of four pages, or twenty-four columns each week, of later and more complete news than formerly. The subscription rate is only $1.50 per annum, or 75c. for six months, including that charming monthly publication, Wives and Daughters, for the same term, which if ordered separately, would cost 50c. per annum. Samples free by addressing—Advertiser Printing Co., London, Ont. Subscriptions taken at this office.

The Death Roll. It will be noticed elsewhere that Mr. Alexander Melvine died on Monday last. It was only last week that we had occasion to refer to Mr. Melvine as having returned from British Columbia, where he had been sojourning for a year past. The journey was too much for the aged gentleman, as a severe cold bore him away from life after a few days' illness. Mrs. Melvine is still indisposed but recovering. The funeral took place yesterday (Wednesday) to the Meaford Road cemetery. Deceased was an old settler of this township, having resided near Eugenia for many years. He was of Scotch birth, and was born at or near Dundee. He had a very wide circle of acquaintances, and his sterling honesty was recognized by all who had dealings with him. Deceased had no relatives in this country with the exception of a nephew, Mr. J. Webster, of Port Haney, B. C. The kindness of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Mackenzie in making comfortable the old gentleman's last hours will certainly not go unrewarded by Him who has it in his power to reward the doers of good and of evil.

Mr. Newton Smith, who died on Sunday night last at 12 o'clock, was a young man of quiet and industrious habits. He had been suffering for some months with that incurable sickness, consumption. His death, however, came suddenly, and unexpected to those who were not intimate with the circumstances. His remains were laid at rest on Tuesday afternoon in the Meaford road cemetery, near his birth place. The funeral was a large one, Flesherton brass band and the members of No. 6 company, volunteers (of which he was a member) heading the procession. On the casket was placed a beautiful and costly anchor of flowers containing many rosebuds, emblematic of the young life which had been rudely plucked from its stem. The sorrowing parents and companions have much sympathy in their severe loss. Rev. Mr. Tonge officiated at the interment.
