Mr. P. Quigg has had two lime kilns sited by some unkind person this spring. As this entails double labor in burning the stone the meanness of the act will be seen. Mr. Quigg did not think he had an enemy in the whole township, and outside of the one or two sneaks who did this act it is not probable that he has.

The Streetsville Review "regrets the departure of several dead-beat subscribers and patrons for parts unknown. Dead-beats are the worst kind of human animals with which it has been our misfortune to come in contact. We fear a hot corner is reserved for them in the land beyond the setting sun."

The proprietor of this paper will be away from home for the next week or so. The business is left in competent hands, and job work, etc., will be executed as usual.
